

Belexpo

Some rules to follow

At Belexpo, you explore an urban environment, discover and learn while having fun. To do all this, there are decors, works of art, screens and equipment. To ensure that all visitors enjoy their experience and that the equipment stays in its original condition, there are a few rules, just like a board game.

A few tips to help me accomplish my missions

- In the exhibition there are several missions •
 - I start with any one of my choice •
 - I don't have to do everything •
- If there are too many people on one mission, I go off and do another one •
- There's no point in rushing, I make the most of the activities •
 - We are allowed to help each other •
- We can talk about our missions and ask questions •
